PART II

THE CHECKLIST BY TITLE OF ARABIC-PRINTED WORKS

PART II: SECTION A

NOTES ON THE COMPILATION AND USES OF THE CHECKLIST

The drawing up of a bibliographical list of early Egyptian publications based on information derived from a number of scattered sources of uneven quality presents several problems, amongst which is the difficulty of establishing the author and the subject of the printed work, and indeed even its title and the language it was written in. In view of these difficulties, the following list of Egyptian publications has been drawn up in strict alphabetical order according to the title. Under every established title, there will be several entries to comprise the essential bibliographical and publication data, such as the author, language, work-classification, subject-matter, date and place of publication, in addition to other notes on source-references, volume(s)/part(s), page-numbers, prices, and copies printed/consumed (i.e. distributed and /or sold), which will be given as sufficient and correct as possible for the purpose of serving as a checklist and of providing this study with information to be used for surveys and statistics in order to gain a better understanding of early Egyptian book production and trade. The principles and methods adopted for the entry are as follows:

1. TITLES: Owing to the lack of a uniform system of titling Arabic-character works and the lack of title-page in many early printed works, it is not uncommon to find that a work is given various title-names in different editions/sources or in different sources referring to the same edition of the work. As a general rule, a certain title-name is adopted here as the filing-title for an identified work without regard to other title-name(s) it may have in sources or in editions. The principles and methods adopted for deciding the filing-title are as follows:

(1) Priority is given to the literary name, e.g. "Anwār al-Tanzīl wa-Asrār al-Ta'wīl", instead of the well-known name of "Tafsīr al-Bayḍāwī" in the case of work No.013, and

"Al-Aqwāl al-Murdiyya fī 'Ilm Bunyat al-Kura al-Arḍiyya", instead of the descriptive name of "Kitāb al-Jiyūlūjiyā", or that of translation "The Globe", (as in No.015).

But when no literary name is known, then

(2) a well-known or a commonly-accepted name is taken into account, especially in the cases of poetic works, epistles, and many commentaries etc.,

e.g. "Dīwān Amīr al-Mu'minīn 'Alī B. Abī Ṭālib" (as in No.042),

"Inshā' al-ʿAtṭār" (No.144), and

"Ḥāshiyat ʿAbd al-Ḥakīm al-Siyālkūtī (d. 1067/1656-57)

ʿalā Ḥāshiyat ʿAbd al-Ghafūr al-Lārī (d. 912/1506) ʿalā

al-Fawā'id al-Diyā'iyya [Sharḥ ʿAbd al-Raḥmān al-Jāmī

(d. 898/1492) ʿalā al-Kāfiya li-ʿUṭhmān Ibn al-Ḥājib

(d. 646/1249)]" (work No.117).

If both of the above-mentioned title-names are not known and no extant copy of the work in question is available, other names will be adopted in the following order of preference:

(3) a transliteration according to the source origin of greatest authority, e.g. "Asakiri Piadegiani Chafifenun Seferde Olan Chidmetlerini Mubin Risale" (as in work No.017), and

"Huda Rabbim" (No.123);

(4) a descriptive name,

e.g. "Batūlūjiyya ya^cnī [that is] Risāla fī al-Ṭibb al-Baṣḥarī", (No.029);
"Le Diwan de Nesimī" (No.063);

(5) a translation,

e.g. "Kalender für das Jahr 1831" (No.167).

But when an extant copy of the printed work is available, then

(6) the incipit (i.e. the first few words of the text) will be taken as the filing-title of the publication, e.g. "Ishbū Fihrist Maḥrūsa-i Mīṣrda ... etc." (No.151).

Apart from these above-mentioned rules, where a work has been published more than once without a literary or a well-known/ commonly-accepted title-name, the title of the first edition is usually taken as the filing-title of the various editions, such as "Kitāb fī Ṣinā^cat Ṣibāghat al-Ḥarīr" (No.185). Other title-names of a work, which are not taken as the filing-title, may be mentioned in annotations or notes (i.e. under the boxed-heading "contents-note" and "N.B." respectively, cf. below, pp. 189-90) for reference and comparison, and are not filed as the filing-title for cross-reference except in the case of collection-edition (cf. below, pp. 182-83).

These title-names taken as the filing-titles are underscored and filed according to the capitalized letters only. Some parts of the title are not taken into account as the letters/words of filing order, such as the Arabic article "al-", the Persian idāfa (i.e. "-i" or "-yi"), and certain words and names of persons which either do not form the essential part of the title, such as "kitāb", "tarjama", and "ta^crīb" in the cases of No.138, No.502, and No.183; or the distinctive part of the author's name which is being used in the title, such as "B.", "Sulaymān", and "Kamāl al-Dīn", in No.042, No.111, and No.115 respectively.

2. AUTHORS: In general, the Turkish and Persian names are given and transliterated according to the Arabic method. For the purpose of further filing, those authors who have given-names in a style adopted by most contemporaries, consisting of two or three names, will have their surname, by which they are best known, capitalized, e.g.

"Muḥammad Pasha ^cĀKIF", and "Rifā^ca Rāfi^c al-ṬAHTĀWĪ".

While with others whose names consist of a chain of various parts, only the well-known/distinctive part of the name by which they are known by most people will be capitalized, e.g.

"Muṣliḥ al-Dīn SA^cDĪ SHĪRĀZĪ", and

"Muḥammad Ṣādiq B. ^cAbd al-Raḥmān al-Arzānjānī known as MUFTĪ-ZĀDA".

But in some cases, the author's names are given without capitalization when their names are known in that form and are filed in that way as a whole, e.g.

"^cAlī B. Abī Ṭālīb".

In addition, the translator's names usually come in parentheses after the author, and in the case of anonymous authorship the abbreviation "anon." is given. The date of birth and/or death, if unknown then the approximate date, is added after the author's/translator's names with the exception of most western authors, thus:

"Muhammad Pasha ^ĀAKIF, 1202-64/1787-1848",

"^ĀAlī B. Abī Ṭālīb, d. 40/660",

"Antoine B. CLOT Bey (tr. anon.)",

"anon. (tr. Yuhannā ^ĀANḤŪRĪ, fl. 13th/19th)", and

"anon." only (in the case of the author, or both the author and the translator, being unknown).

3. REMARKS: The language, work-classification and subject-matter of the work in question will be specifically noted here after the entry of the title and author, owing to their importance in conducting literary and statistical surveys. The principles and methods for their entry will be separately noted as follows:

(1) Language (the first sub-entry), noted for example as:

"Arabic" for an Arabic work, or

"Turkish (French)" for a Turkish work translated from French, or

"Persian" for a Persian work, or "Unknown (?)" for a translation in an unknown language, the language from which it was translated also being unknown, or "Arabic-Turkish (Arabic)" for a bilingual work of the same text printed in Arabic and Turkish, of which the latter version is a translation from the Arabic original; in this case, the work figures only as an Arabic work in the survey and statistics of the study.

(2) Work-classification (the second sub-entry), noted either as:

"Contemporary Writing", for a work written/composed after or in the year 1200 A.H. (i.e. 1785-1786), or

"Translation Work", for a work translated after or in the year 1200 A.H., or

"Classical Literature", for a work or translation written/made before the year 1200 A.H.

The adoption of the Muslim year "1200 A.H." as a dividing line in the classification of works, especially between contemporary writing and classical literature, is based mainly on the fact that there was around this time a significant development in Arabic-printing within the domains of the Ottoman Empire. The art of printing was used, after this date, by the government as a means of modernization, and there began to be produced significant quantities of original works and translations of new subjects. However, in some cases we have works whose work-classification cannot be determined owing to lack of information, in which case a question-mark "?" is added to the work-classification to denote doubt, e.g.

"Contemporary Writing ?" which is given, in most cases, to works dealing with subjects in social sciences, pure sciences and technology, and

"Classical Literature ?" which is often given to works dealing with subjects in philosophy, religion, language, literature, and history.

Nevertheless, there are several exception in the classification of certain works, such as work No.506.

(3) Subject-matters (the third sub-entry), noted under the abbreviation of the DDC's (= Dewey Decimal Classification) ten main classes of subjects and the proper notation of the subject-matters allocated in the modified schedule of DDC for early Egyptian publications. For example,

"Phil.160" stands for a work on the subject-matter of logic which is classified in the second main class of the DDC, i.e. the subject of philosophy and related sciences, and is allocated to that notation in the DDC;

"Rel.297(1)" stands for a work on the subject-matter of the Qur'ān and its sciences, which is allocated to the notation in the modified scheme of the DDC (as shown in Table 32), but under the same subclass of Islam as given in the original DDC;

"SocS.351" stands for an administrative publication which is classified in the third main classes of the DDC, and is allocated to the subclass given under the notation of "351".

These three pieces of information on the language, work-classification, and subject-matter of a work will thereafter be noted (after the word "Remarks") within square brackets, and separated by a diagonal "/", e.g.

"[Remarks: Unknown / Classical Literature ? / Gen.094]", or

"[Remarks: Arabic / Contemporary Writing / Lang.492(5)]".

These two remarks-entries above stand for: (a) a work of which the language is not known and which has been arbitrarily classified in the Checklist as "Classical Literature" and allocated to the notation of "Gen.094" owing to its subject-matter being unknown, and (b) an Arabic work which has been classified as a contemporary writing on Arabic grammar. These remarks-entries will also be abbreviated, within parentheses, in the form of "(U-CL.0)" and "(A-CW.4)" respectively, as in the case of the above two examples, with the "U" representing "Unknown", "CL" "Classical Literature", "0" the notation "000" (i.e. the first of the DDC's ten main classes "Generalities"), "A" the language of "Arabic", "CW" the "Contemporary Writing", "4" the notation "400" (= the fifth of the DDC's ten main classes "Language"), and so on. This abbreviated form of the remarks-entry is preceded by a basic number referring to the order of appearance of the work's filing-title in the Checklist, and then to form a code-number which will precede the filing-title in the Checklist and be cited, especially in the third part of this study, to avoid the repetition of titles.

For instance, the order of appearance for the title "Dīwān-i Hāfiz" is 49th on the Checklist, and its basic number of appearance is thus "No.049"; while the full remarks-entry, that is "Persian / Classical Literature / Lit.891(1)", is abbreviated and bracketed as "(P-CL.8)". Thus, the code-number of Dīwān-i Hāfiz is "No.049(P-CL.8)" which indicates that the work in question appears as the 49th (No.049) on the Checklist, and is classified as a Persian work (P), as classical literature (CL), and as literature (8) in regard to its language, work-classification and subject-matter.

In the same way, the code-number "No.428(T-CL.8)" indicates that the work in question appears as the 428th on the List, which is, Sharḥ-i Dīwān-i Hāfiz-i Shīrāzī, written in Turkish (T), regarded as a work of classical literature (CL), and classified in the ninth of the DDC's ten main classes under the notation "800" (8), i.e.

a work of literature. However, the full remarks-entry of the work is given as "Turkish / Classical Literature / Lit.891(1)" in which the third sub-entry "Lit.891(1)" indicates that this is a work on Persian poetry, despite being indicated as a Turkish classical literary work from its code-number. This apparent contradiction is based on two interpretations of the work: One is based on the language of the work, the other the subject-matter. As a result of the two interpretations, the figure denoting the works' subject-matter (as shown in Table 32) will be different from that denoting the language and subject surveys (as shown in Tables 36-56). In the former survey, the work in question is classified as a work on Persian poetry, while in the latter, it is only regarded as a Turkish literary work.

In this study, when the code-number referring to a work is quoted, it will sometimes be followed by the date of publication with the Muslim year, such as "No.049(P-CL.8): 1256" and "No.428(T-CL.8): 1250" to denote the edition of the work. The denotation of edition(s) will also be made by using the basic number of a work, such as "No.049" and "No.428", followed by a numeral set on a space-lower than the basic number to denote the edition concerned, e.g.

"No.049₁" = Edn₁ of work No.049

(i.e. the edition published in 1256), and

"No.428₁" = Edn₁ of work No.428

(i.e. the edition published in 1250).

4. EDITIONS: Under this entry, there are several sections concerning the edition (including the date and place of publication), source-references, and annotation of the work/edition in question. In the following, they will be discussed separately as:

(1) The entry of edition (abbreviated as "Edn"): It comprises three sub-entries: (a) the denotation of the total number of editions listed in the Checklist, by the use of "Edn₁", "Edn₂", "Edn₃", "Edn₄" and so on, each of them being followed immediately by (b) the date of publication and (c) the place of publication of the edition/work in question. For instance, in the case of work No.049, we have two editions listed under this work up to 1850, i.e.

" Edn₁ : 1250 (1834-35) / Alexandria: Maṭbaʿat Sarāy Ra's al-Tīn, and Būlāq (see under: No.443)", and
"* Edn₂ : 1256 (1840-41) / Būlāq."

We can see from the above examples that there are two main kinds of editions listed in this Checklist. One is asterisked (i.e. preceded by a "*" before the abbreviation "Edn", as shown in the above exemplified "Edn₂ of No.049"), and is termed "distinct edition" which will figure in the literary and statistical survey of this study as it figures in other general modern bibliographies, to show the frequency of the work in question being published as a printed edition. The other bears no asterisk (as shown in the above-exemplified "Edn₁ of No.049"), and is termed "text-edition" which does not figure in this study as a printed edition but acts as an aid to research to show the frequency of the work's publication during the period of study in a work which contains more than a work/text in the form of separate texts or interliner texts.

The asterisked edition will in turn consist of two kinds:
(a) a one-asterisked edition which indicates that it contains only a single text/work in it, and (b) a double-asterisked edition which indicates that it contains more than one text/work and is also called a "collection-edition", such as "Edn₁ of No.428" , which is listed as:

" Edn₁: 1250(1834-35) / Alexandria: Maṭbaʿat Ra's al-Tīn and Būlāq."

However, if the collection-edition is entered in the remarks-entry as having a bilingual status, i.e. "Arabic-Turkish" or "Turkish-Arabic (French)", in the first sub-entry of that section dealing with its language, the work will be listed only under a filing-title without the listing of another version under a different filing-title to contain the text-edition, such as No.319, and No.313 etc. Otherwise, the texts/works included in the collection-edition will be listed under the title-name of each with a non-asterisked edition for cross-reference. In this case, the title-names chosen for these texts/works will follow the principles set in the above title-entry, and the filing-title chosen for the collection-edition will be listed either under:

(a) a title-name specifically-adopted for it, such as Majmūʿat al-Muaqddimāt fī al-Nahw, as in the case of No.237, where the work is marked with two asterisks as a collection-edition while the three texts/works contained in it are each listed under its own title, namely, Al-ʿAwāmil al-Jadīda (No.020), Izhār al-Asrār (No.153) and Al-Kāfiya (No.166) respectively, with a non-asterisked edition under these filing-titles, i.e. Edn₁ for No.020, Edn₁ for No.153, and Edn₁ for No.166 respectively; or

(b) a title-name coinciding with one of the titles of the texts and works included, such as Sharḥ-i Dīwān-i Ḥāfiẓ-i Shīrāzī, in the case of No.428, where Sūdī Būsnawī's (d. c.1006/1598) commentary on Shams al-Dīn Muḥammad Ḥāfiẓ Shīrāzī's (d. 992/1390) divan was published in 1250 A.H. with the text. The 1250 A.H. edition of the same commentary (i.e. Edn₁ of No.428) is listed not only under its own title but also with two asterisks to figure as a collection-edition, as the collection-edition in question is listed under that title, while the divan is listed under its own filing-title, Dīwān-i Ḥāfiẓ, with a non-asterisked edition (i.e. Edn₁ of No.049) to figure as a text-edition.

Certain sources sometimes mention these various kinds of editions without distinguishing them, as we do here as a "distinct-edition" (or "collection-edition") and "text-edition", and this often leads to confusion. The listing of these various kinds of editions will allow us to perceive the popularity of a work in a given period. In the Checklist, the listing of editions has been carried down to the end of the thirteenth century Hegira (i.e. 1299/1881-82) in order to provide a comparison between the first thirty years (i.e. 1238-1267/1822-1851) and the second thirty years (1268-1299/1851-1882) of the first Muslim century of Arabic-printing in Egypt. Because there may still be editions which have not come to our attention, the entry of "Edn₁", "Edn₂", and "Edn₃" etc. does not denote the specific edition (i.e. the notation does not refer to the first, second, or third edition of the work in question), and various editions of the work may also be referred to as "No.049₁" and "No.049₂", instead of "Edn₁ of No.049" and "Edn₂ of No.049" respectively.

The enumerated edition (i.e. Edn_1 , Edn_2 , and Edn_3) will be then followed immediately by:

- (a) the date of publication-- The dating system is that the year is given either according to the Muslim calendar or the Christian, depending on the style adopted by the source reference, with the full corresponding year(s) of its counterpart in parentheses, e.g.

"1240 (1824-25)" and "1826 (1241-42)".

If there is doubt or an uncertainty, the date is given as:

"1250 (1834-35)?", or "c. 1252 (1836-37)", or

"c. 1834 (1249-50)?".

When a work (mostly in several volumes) was printed/published over a period of years, and the various volumes are listed with an edition under a filing-title, the date is given as:

"1258-60 (1842-45)".

But in some cases, the work may be listed under different filing-titles with editions for its various volumes/parts. The appropriate date will in such cases be given separately for the edition concerned under which each volume/part is listed, for instance, the date "1251 (1835-36)" is given to Edn_1 of No.018, Edn_1 of No.316, and Edn_1 of No.339, while "1252 (1836-37)" is given to Edn_1 of No.333, although these four works are parts of a collection of works on cavalry. In this case, these four also figure as four different printed works in surveys and statistics. As a general rule, both corresponding years of the counterpart are given even when sources mention a specific year. This is done because the precise date of publication of many works is not ascertainable and in order to eliminate the confusion which arises when different sources convert the same year differently, e.g. "1254 (1838)" and "1254 (1839)" in the case of work No.039. The precise date (including month and even date), if known, will however be noted in the "contents-note" section (cf. below, p.189) using such expressions as "Printing finished: ... ", or "Printing executed: ... " according to the Arabic wording "tamma ṭabʿ ... " or "ṭubiʿa/ṭubiʿat ... " as found either in the colophon or in sources, e.g. No.039, where the precise date is mentioned as:

" ... Printing executed: Rabīʿ I, 1254/May-June 1838."

Although the date of publication is given in both Muslim and Christian years, only the figure of the Muslim calendar is taken into account as the determining element in respect of annual surveys and statistics. If Muslim years are given, either within or without parentheses, only the last figure of the calendar is regarded as the determining element for the date of publication, e.g.

"Edn₁ of No.039" figures as being published in "1254 A.H." as the date of publication is "1254 (1838-39)", and

"Edn₁ of No.152" figures as being published in "1266 A.H." as the date of its publication is "1258-66 (1842-50)", but

"Edn₁ of No.064" figures as being published in "1257 A.H." as the date of publication is given as "1841 (1256-57)".

Works whose dates of publication are not known are categorized as "no date" (abbreviated to "n.d.") in surveys and statistics, whereas their date of publication may be given in the Checklist as:

"no date (before 1262/1845-46)", (as in No.037₁) or

"no date (between 1830/1245-46 and 1842/1257-58)" (No.180₂)

Although the full corresponding years of the counterpart are given in many places, elsewhere in the List or in the study, "A.H." is always added to the Muslim year when it is mentioned without the corresponding conversion, e.g. "1250 A.H.", but not in the case of a Christian year which is only mentioned in figures, e.g. "1836".

- (b) the place of publication-- Generally, the place-name "Būlāq" is given to works printed/published or, in some cases, attributed to the printing-press of Būlāq. With non-Būlāq imprints, the press-name, if known, is given after the name of city/place, e.g.

"Cairo: Maṭbaʿat Dīwān al-Jihādiyya", or

"Cairo: Maṭbaʿat al-Ṭibb bi-Abī Zaʿbal".

Otherwise, only the city- /place- name is given according to the source of origin, i.e. "Cairo (or al-Qāhira)" or "Miṣr", the latter usually referring to the city of Cairo, and in this case an effort has been made to identify the press responsible for the printing of the work in question. Though the listing of various distinct/text editions has been carried down to the year 1299/1881-82, only those editions/works appearing during the period under study, i.e. 1238-67/1822-51, will be marked with asterisks, or be provided with source-references. The principles and methods of entering the source-references are as follows:

(2) The entry of source-reference: Owing to the uneven quality of the sources, they will be classified as three kinds and noted under different square-boxed headings:

- (a) "bibliog. ref."-- for bibliographical references, such as catalogues and lists of collections, in which the location of the extant copy of a work/edition in question can be found; they will be arranged here according to alphabetical order.

- (b) "/lit. ref."/-- for literary references, such as lists of publications, studies, and reference works etc., which make mention of the printed work/edition in question, and in most cases give no location of any extant copy of the work/edition in question. They will be arranged here according to the chronological order of their appearance.
- (c) "/comp. ref."/-- for comparative references which refer to
- (i) a work which cannot be satisfactorily identified, due to lack of information or other difficulties, as being identical to a work mentioned by other sources and listed under an established title. Such dubious works are not listed under separate filing-titles as independant works, but are listed under the established work to which they appear to be similar, with their source-reference(s) being listed provisionally under this boxed-heading.
 - (ii) a work/edition which is mentioned by a source without the date of publication, and whose edition status (i.e. which edition it is) cannot therefore be determined but is known to have been published more than once during the period of study, i.e. 1238-67 (1822-51). Such a doubtful edition will be arbitrarily attributed to the edition whose date of publication is closest to the date of appearance of the source in question, and the source-reference will be listed under this boxed-heading. In cases where only one edition of the work in question is known to have been published during the period under discussion, edition(s) mentioned by source(s) without date is/are attributed to the only-known edition, and the source-reference(s) in question is/are listed accordingly in the boxed-heading for literary or bibliographical references.

(iii) a work which is mentioned by one or more sources and cannot be positively identified or its existence ascertained, due to lack of corroborative evidence. Such a work is listed under a similarly identified work for comparison, with its source-reference(s) being at the same time listed under this boxed heading.

In this section, the source-reference is quoted in the full abbreviated form for sources (as given in the "Abbreviations", cf. pp. xiv-xxii), i.e. the abbreviated title of the source to be preceded by the name of author or of place, e.g.

"BianchiCG", "RidwānOMB", "CairoFKA", and "IstBK", etc., but "BM", "BN", and "GAL" only, when no person- or place- name is given.

The full abbreviation of the source will be then followed by the volume, part, page, and line number of the source, thus:

"CairoFKT-28"-- indicating that the reference is to page "28" (of the source "CairoFKT");

"GAL-s.II/496, z.II/485"-- indicating that the reference is to page "496" in part "s.II", and to page "485" in part "z.II" (of the source "GAL") respectively;

"AlexMB-X.g.ii/29"-- indicating that the reference is to page "29" in section "ii" of the part "g" of the volume "X" (of the source "AlexMB");

"BowringRE-142:42"-- indicating that the reference is to line "42" on page "142" (of the source "BowringRE");

"BūlāqMK-2:13-15"-- indicating that the reference is to lines "13 to 15" on page "2" (of the source "BūlāqMK");

"BianchiCG-51₁₆₁"-- indicating that the reference is to the work enumerated as number "161" on page "51" (of the source "BianchiCG"); and

"BM(CAB-II/806): 14546.d.5"-- indicating that the reference is to the work with the call-number "14546.d.5" noted on page "806" in volume/part "II" (of the source "BM(CAB)"), but when the work is only available through the card-catalogue of the library, then it will be quoted as "BM: 14546.f.1"

Elsewhere in the Checklist, either only the capitalized letters of the source, such as "EKT", "GAL", "MB", "RE ", "MK", "CG", and "BM", will be quoted, if it has been already referred to in the source-reference section of the work under discussion; or the full abbreviation of the source will be given, if it has not been referred to in the source reference section of the work in question. In the case of the latter, the volume, part, page and line number will be given in parentheses e.g. "CairoFKA (II/125, or vol. II, p. 125)", and "BūlāqIF (p. 9, line 24). The reference to the volume, part and page number etc. will also be given in parentheses, in the case of the former, e.g. "GAL (vol.II, p.496)" and "GAL (vol. z.II, p. 485)", if the source referred to in the source-reference section contains more than one reference to the source-origin of the work in question, e.g. "GAL- s.II/496, z.II/485" for the example above.

Information drawn from the above source-references has been treated with care and sometimes with caution, and is given in the following three sections:

- (1) "/contents-note/", to give brief information on the nature of the work as well as the number of volumes/parts and pages; the precise date of publication, if known, is also noted here. In case of a collection-edition, the texts/works included will be also noted here.

- (2) "N.B."/, to give annotations or remarks which differ from those given in the "contents-note" section for comparison and further identification; or to note errors in information given by some sources; or to detail doubts of certain sources which are in particular listed under the above-mentioned boxed-heading for "comparative references".
- (3) "/price, copies printed/consumed/", to give information on the price(s), copies printed/consumed (i.e. sold and/or distributed) for a better understanding of book production and trade. They are tabulated under three main boxheadings of: (a) "work/edition concerned", (b) "price", and (c) "copies printed/consumed (%)". Under the first boxheading, the work/edition in question is cited in the form of "No.022₁" (= Edn₁ of work No.022, cf. above, pp. 181-84), which is followed, after the colon ":", by the date of its publication, and then by the source in which the price, copies printed and consumed are mentioned, e.g. in the case of work No.144, Inshā' al-^cAtṭār, we have:

Work/Edition Concerned	Price	Copies printed/consumed (%)
No.144 ₂ : 1250 [NL-1253]	10.00-q.	...	/	...
do. [RE-1254]	10.00-q.	...	/	...
do. (CG-1258)	6.00-q.	...	/	...
do. [IF-1260]	4.00-q.	...	/	746 [74.6%]
do. [MK-1262]	...	1,000	/	1,000 (100%)
No.144 ₃ : 1266 [MK-1262]	...	250	/	...

Although the capitalized letters of the sources, such as "NL", "RE" "CG", "IF", and "MK", is given here in the table of price & copies printed instead of the full form of "MédemNL", "BowringRE" "BianchiCG", "BūlāqIF" and "BūlāqMK", they are, however, added with the date of its appearance in order to draw a comparison between prices and copies printed/consumed given at different times. Both the source and its date of appearance will be in parentheses, if the source in question is listed in the source-reference section under the square-boxed heading of "bibliog. ref." or "lit. ref.", and in square-brackets if listed under that of "comp. ref." These round- and square- bracketed sources will be arranged in chronological order of their dates of appearance under the same work/edition as they are listed in the Checklist, each of them is then aligned with the price, and copies printed/consumed, which it refers to, under the second and third boxheadings respectively. In these two latter cases, the Egyptian piastre (qirsh) is given as the unit of the price and is abbreviated as "q." here. The copies printed will be separated by a diagonal "/" from the copies consumed (and the percentage represented) under the third boxheading, in which the former is given on the left side of the diagonal and the latter on the right. In some cases, the number of printed copies of a work is not known, and only the copies still in store are given, in which case they will be given in square-brackets on the left side of the diagonal and be treated as the number of copies printed, such as the figure "1,054" in the following example (p. 194). The copies printed/consumed are taken mainly from two lists of publications, i.e. "BūlāqIF" and "BūlāqMK", issued by the Egyptian government around 1260 A.H. and 1262 A.H. respectively.

Given the many similarities between these two lists, it would seem that the second list was issued shortly after the first in order to supplement it with more items referring to publications and their printed copies and to give further notification of prices and copies still in store. However, the first list only gives the prices and copies left in store and does not mention the number of copies printed. In view of the fact that only the total number of copies still in store is given by BūlāqIF, the total number of copies consumed for the works listed in it up to that point (i.e. 1260 A.H.) is calculated from figures taken from separate sources, i.e. the number (of copies still in store) as given in IF is subtracted from the number (of printed copies) in MK, when the work listed in these two sources is identified as the same. In such a case, the percentage represented will be given in square-brackets, as compared to the figure of percentage given in parentheses which is calculated from figures given in the same source, i.e. in most cases of works listed in BūlāqMK. Also under this section dealing with price and copies printed/consumed, there will be several works/editions given together in one table for comparison, in this case, different works/editions are divided off by a line of spaced hyphens "- - - - -". When neither price or number of copies printed/consumed is available, three full stops "... " are substituted in these columnar matters. This will be further explained after the following example which consists of a complete entry embodying all of the above features.

EXAMPLE:-

NO.022(A-TW.5)-- Al-AZHĀR al-BADĪ^CA FĪ ^CILM al-ṬABĪ^CA.

12 + 6 + 330 pp., with 15 plates. Printing executed: 20th Rabī^C I, 1254/13th June 1839.

/N.B./:- This work is mentioned by BM under the title of Kitāb al-Ṭabī^Ca (Al-Azhār al-Badī^Ca ... etc.), while CG, BO, and QMB mention a work as Al-Ṭabī^Ca ma^Ca Ashkāl which is probably the same as this work. However, BN mentions a work as Al-Ṭabī^Ca Kitāb by the same author and translator, but the date of publication as "1252 A.H." which is not ascertained to be another work/edition or a mistake. In addition, both MMA (vol. II, p. 1390) and FAMT (p. 107) mention, apart from this work (i.e. No.022₁), another work, under the title of Kitāb al-Ṭabī^Ca, by the same translator and the same date of publication, but without giving the author. It is uncertain whether this latter work mentioned by MMA and FAMT is the same as this work in question. Owing to this uncertainty, these two latter sources (i.e. SarkīMMA-II/1390 and ShattīFAMT-107) are listed together with that of BN-III/357 and IF-5:17 (cf. below "Note b") under the boxed-heading of "comp. ref." for comparison.

Edn₂ : 1269 (1852-53) / Būlāq.

Edn₃ : 1291 (1874-75) / Būlāq.

/orice & copies printed/consumed/:-

do. (MK-1262) ^a	22.00-q.	1,008 / 730(72.4%)
do. /IF-1260/ ^b	12.00-q.	/1,054/ / ...

Note a: IF mentions the work under the description of Hikmat-i Tabi^ciyya Shaki^lali ... etc. which is similar to that mentioned by MK.

Note b: Another work of the kind is mentioned by IF only as Hikmat-i Tabi^ciyya ^cArabidur.

In the above example, we are informed that a work on natural philosophy by N. Perron was translated by Yūhannā ^cAnḥūrī from French into Arabic, and was published in 1254 A.H. which is listed in this Checklist under the edition enumerated as "Edn₁" under the filing-title of Al-Azhār al-Badi^ca fī ^cIlm al-Ṭabi^ca, preceded by the code-number "No.022(A-TW.5)". While the other two editions published in 1269 A.H. and 1291 A.H. are listed under the enumerated editions of "Edn₂" and "Edn₃" respectively. Apart from the sources which refer to this same work (i.e. No.022₁), there are several sources, e.g. Sarkī^sMMA-II/1390, Shatṭi^fFAMT-107, BūlāqIF-5:17 and BN-III/357, which mention a work which is not ascertained to be the same as the work (No.022₁). Owing to this uncertainty, these four latter sources are therefore listed under the boxed-heading of "comp. ref." in the source-reference section for comparison.

Furthermore, we observe from the table of price and copies printed/consumed, that the work published in 1254 A.H. (i.e. Edn₁ of No.022 = No.022₁) was offered for sale at "29 qirsh" in 1258 A.H. as indicated by the source BianchiCG-51₁₆₀ which appeared in 1258 A.H. i.e. "(CG-1258)", and then "23 qirsh" in 1260 A.H. and "22 qirsh" in 1262 A.H. as indicated by the sources "(IF-1260)" and "(MK-1262)" respectively. We may also observe that the source "BūlāqIF-5:20" indicates that there were "396" copies of the work still in store in 1260 A.H., while there were "278" copies still in store in 1262 A.H. as given by the source "BūlāqMK-5:23", which also gives the figure "1,008" as the number of its printed copies. With this information, we may now establish that eight years after the publication of the work (No.022), "732" copies (or 72.4%) of the work had been sold and/or distributed (or "consumed" as termed here); if both the sources "BūlāqIF-5:20" and "BūlāqMK-5:23" are referring to the same work/edition, the number of the work consumed is "612" copies (or 60.7%) in six years' time. However, the latter percentage is given in square-brackets as the number of copies consumed is calculated from the figures taken from separate sources, e.g. "612" = "1,008 - 396"; i.e. the figure has been arrived at since the figure "1,008" is given in MK as the number of copies printed and the figure "396" is given in IF as the number of copies still in store (cf. above pp. 191 - 92).

In addition, there is a similar work which is mentioned by BūlāqIF (p.5, l.17), apart from the work No.022₁, with the figure "1,054" (at 12 qirsh each) being given as the number of copies still in store. This latter work is probably a different work/edition, however, it is not listed separately under its own filing-title as a different work but is listed under this work/edition (i.e. No.022₁) for comparison, with its source under the boxed-heading of "comp.ref."

As the result of this, the source and its date of appearance are square-bracketed as "[IF-1260]" in the table of price and copies printed. In addition, the number of its copies still in store, i.e. "1,054" is also given in square-brackets and on the left side of the diagonal owing to the number of its printed copies being unknown; this is to show there were at least that number printed. As the work seems to be a different work/edition from the work No.022₁, it is therefore separated with a line of spaced hyphens in the table.

Finally, we may observe that this Checklist may contain defects in many places, which are common to many bibliographies. H. F. Hofman, the bibliographer of Turkish materials was to sum up this problem when he noted by way of introduction to his own work (Turkish Literature, A Bio-bibliographical Survey, section III, vol. I, p. viii):

"No absolute guarantee, however, can be given of the soundness of the data supplied by catalogues, since cataloguers are fallible, as are we all Continuous checking, which, after all, was beyond the power of those great bibliographers, has not been attempted. It is therefore only as a kind of 'researchers' aid and 'Verarbeitung in die Forschung' that these present-day catalogi catalogorum must be considered and judged."

In view of this, it is hoped that the bibliographical and publication data in this Checklist will have some value for bibliographers and students of this period in general, and it is also hoped that it will act as a stimulus for further study in this field.

/N.B./:- This is the second work for which only the place of publication (Cairo) is given, rather than the printing press; this could suggest that the book was published either by an official press or by a private establishment. However, the possibility of its printing having been executed by Būlāq cannot be excluded for GAL sometimes gives Cairo as place of publication for a work which may be printed at Būlāq but bears no press-name, for instance, Edn₃ and Edn₄ of No.425.

/contents-note/:- A work on diagnosis and treatment of diseases, printed in two volumes.

/N.B./:- Mentioned under the title of Kitāb al-Tashkhīṣ (Aḥsan al-Aghrād...etc.) by BM and BN, while MMA remarks that the first part is on "tashkhīṣ al-amrād wa-ta'yīnḥā" and is called Kitāb al-Tashkhīṣ, and the second part is on "ʿilm al-amrād al-bāṭiniyya". In addition, the work is mentioned by FAMT as in four parts.

/price & copies printed/consumed/:-

do. /MK-1262/	28.00-q.	1,000 / 676 (67.6%)

Note a: Both IF and MK mention a work under the same appellation of Tashkhīṣ al-Amrād which are listed here for comparison owing to lack of information to suggest that they are the same as this work in question (i.e. No.004). It is also uncertain whether the work mentioned by IF at 15 qirsh each copy is the same work mentioned by MK at 28 qirsh each copy. If so, the information given by IF is probably on the first part of the work which had been sold/distributed with 103 copies being still in store by 1260 A.H. The number of copies printed is given by MK as 1,000, but it is not known whether by the total was meant the bound copies containing only one part (i.e. the second) or both parts; the same applies to the prices and the 324 copies still in store given by MK.

This statement is not only rather doubtful, but is also challenged by Ridwān (Tārīkh Maṭba^cat Būlāq, p.356) who claims to have examined a copy of it and confirms that the book was printed at Būlāq as its imprint indicates. The number of pages is given differently by MMA as "265" and by OK as "365" respectively.

/contents-note/:- A military work described as "Planches ou Figures pour l'instruction de la Cavalerie", one volume.

/N.3./:- CO mentions it as part (or the fourth part) of a series of works on cavalry under the title of Suwārī Ta^clīm-Nāmā-sī ... etc. The date of publication of other three parts (i.e. Nos.316, 339, and 333) are given as between Shawwāl 1251/January-February 1836 and 26th Muharram 1252/13th May 1836, while the fourth part. i.e. this work (No.018) is mentioned by it as Suwārī Ta^clīmī Ashkāli ... etc. but without the date and page-number. Nonetheless, the date of publication is probably after the third part (i.e. in 1252 A.H.), and other sources, such as CG, BO, CK and CMB, give it as "1251/1836".

do. (MK-1262) ^a	15.00-q.	1,200	/	118(9.8%)

Note a: MK mentions two bindings of the work under the description of "Ashkāli-i Suwārī bi-Mujazza^c" and "Ashkāli-i Suwārī bi-Mā' al-Lahab" respectively. The latter is probably the same as that mentioned by IF as "Ashkāli-i Suwārī" with the same price of 15 qirsh. The number of copies still in store is, however, mentioned by IF as "1280" which is higher than the figure(i.e. "1200") of printed copies given by MK for the binding in question. If the figure given by MK is correct, it could probably mean that the number of printed copies is given wrongly by IF. Owing to this uncertainty, the number and percentage of copies consumed up to 1260 A.H. are not given here.

/N.B./:- This work is mentioned by BM under the title of Kitāb al-Ṭabī^ca (Al-Azhār al-Badī^ca ... etc.), while CG, 30, and QMS mention a work as Al-Ṭabī^ca ma^ca Ashkāl which is probably the same as this work. However, SN mentions a work as Al-Ṭabī^ca Kitāb by the same author and translator, but the date of publication as "1252 A.H." which is not ascertained to be another work/edition or a mistake. In addition, both MA (vol. II, p. 1390) and FAMT (p. 107) mention, apart from this work (i.e. No.022₁), another work, under the title of Kitāb al-Ṭabī^ca, by the same translator and the same date of publication, but without giving the author. It is uncertain whether this latter work mentioned by MA and FAMT is the same as this work in question. Owing to this uncertainty, these two latter sources (i.e. SarkīshMA-II/1390 and ShattīFAMT-107) are listed together with that of SN-III/357 and IF-5:17 (cf. below "Note b") under the boxed-heading of "comp. ref." for comparison.

/N.B./:- A work is mentioned by NL as "Diouan Chaleb Nédimi", and by RE as "Diouan Nadim, Various Poetry, by Nadim" (p.142, line 64) or "Nedim Divani" (p.144, line 11). It is uncertain whether the work

mentioned by both NL and RE is another edition of Ahmad Nadim's poetical works. If so, it was probably published in or before 1253/1837-38. Although, the date of publication is not given by both FKT (p.125) and TEK; FKT (p.143), nevertheless, mentions the author's two works of (1) Qasā'id Nadim Afandī (in 107 pages) and

(2) Al-Ghazaliyyāt wa-al-Rubā^cīyyat" (in 59 pages) as being contained in a collection which includes, apart from these two afore-mentioned works by Aḥmad Nadīm, another work "Tahrīrāt ^cAzīz Afandī" (probably No.145). The date of publication is, however, given by FKT to this collection as "1249 A.H." which is the same date in which the work No.143 was published. It is uncertain whether these three works contained in the collection in question were all published in that year.

Note a: IF mentions an Arabic mathematical work under the description of "Ta^clīm-i Aṭfāl: Mabādī'-i Handasa-yī Şhāmīl bir Risāladur 'Arabīdur", while MK mentions two (one Arabic the other Turkish) under the description of "Aṭfāl Ta^clīmīna Nāfi^c Handasada Mukhtaşar Risāladur", each with the above-cited copies in store. However the first two works in Arabic are listed under this work (i.e. No.132), and the last work in Turkish is listed under No.133 for companson respectively. The figure "1508" is however given by MK as the combined total of printed copies for the two works mentioned by it; the number/percentage of consumed copies up up to 1262 A.H. for them are therefore "523 (34.7%)", while the number/percentage of consumed copies up to 1260 A.H. is not assumed as only one work is mentioned by IF.

/N.B./:- This is the first of three known lists of publications issued by the Egyptian government probably for the purpose of promoting book-selling. The date of publication is given by BM as "1845". However, several works, such as Nos.026₁, 152₁, 174₁ and 379₁, mentioned at the end of this list as being in the process of being printed, were eventually published around 1260 A.H. or later; in particular work No.240₁ described by the list as being near the end of its printing, it was in fact published in 1261 A.H. The list therefore seems to have been issued in or before 1260 A.H. Cf. another two lists No.098₁ and No.224₁ published in 1263 A.H. and 1266 A.H. respectively.

Note a: IF mentions the work as "Ithāf al-Mulūk: Firānsizjadan ^cArabī-ya tarjama Ūlanmish Tārīkhdur" which can only be meant for the volume (i.e. the first listed here) published in 1258 A.H., and probably refers to the same work mentioned by MK (p.6, line 31-33) as "Juz' Awwal Ithāf al-Mulūk ... etc." for both sources give it the same price of 21 qirsh.

Note b: MK (p.6, line 31-33) also mentions another part as "Juz' thānī Ithāf al-Mulūk ... etc." which is probably the second volume of the work listed here, and it is probably that mentioned by IF (p.11, line 14) as being in the process of being printed under the description of "Ithāf Mulūk 'Arabīdur" only.

Note c: Though MK (p.12, line 8) mentions another work as being at the press under the description of "Juz' Thānī min Ithāf al-Mulūk", this probably means the third volume of the work listed here.

/N.B./:- Mentioned by BM under the title of Kitāb al-Kīmiyā

(al-Jawāhir al-Saniyya ... etc). Apart from the work, MMA (vol. I, p.614) and FAMT (p.68) both mention another work on chemistry as being in two volumes and published also in 1260 A.H., but under the title of ʿIlm al-Tahlīl fī al-Kīmiyā. This latter work is probably the same as this work (i.e. No.159₁) in question and is only noted here here but not listed elsewhere separately.

/price & copies printed/consumed/:-

Note a: IF only mentions the first part of the work, and gives the number of copies still in store and the price for that part, while MK mentions all three parts/volumes of this work in question, and gives the figure "3,008" as the combined total of printed copies for these three as well as the above-cited copies still in store for each part. The number/percentage of copies consumed up to 1262 A.H. is therefore "1,072 (35.6%)".

/contents-note/:- A translation of Bruun's Géographie complète et volume (=205 pp.) and the third (=268 pp.).

N.3.7:- MMA remarks that the translator had rendered it into four volumes, but only the first and the third were published probably in 1254 A.H. which is also given as the date of publication by CO to its first volume under the title of Risālat al-Jughrāfiyya al-ʿUmūmiyya. While CG, SO and QMS mentions a work (in one volume) as being published in that year but under the title of Jughrāfiyya ʿUmūmī fī Kayfiyyat al-ʿArḍ without indicating which volume. CAL though mentions two parts of the work, one being published at Būlāq but without a date and the other in Cairo in 1254 A.H. in addition to giving the date and place of publication of its abridgement (i.e. No.519) as "Būlāq 1250 A.H.". However, CK remarks that the first volume was probably printed after 1262/1835-36, and the third probably after 1262/1843-46. But BM (CAB, vol. I, p. 421) mentions that these two parts/volumes were published in 1834/1249-50, while Abu-Lughod (Arab Rediscovery, pp. 52, and 172) mentions the work (in three volumes) as being published in Cairo in 1843/1258-59.

Note a: There are two similar works mentioned by IF under the description of "Kitāb al-Ṭibb al-Şha^cbî: Şihḥat Khuşûsında Klût Baykuñ Ta'lîf İtdîkî Ṭibb Kitâbîdur" and "Kitāb al-Ṭibb al-Şha^cbî: Kadhâlik Dîğarî şibîdur. Naf^cî 'Ammdur. 'Arabîdur" respectively. The language of the former is not given, while the latter is given as in Arabic and is probably the same as that Arabic medical work mentioned by MK under the description of "Liwâ Klût Baykuñ Şihḥat Khuşûsında Ta'lîf ayladîkî Ṭibb-i Şha^cbî Kitâbîdur. Fahmî Aşhal, wa 'Ammaya Hufîd bir Kitâbdur". These three works are all listed under the work No.193₁ for comparison.

Note b: Under the same description of the afore-mentioned Arabic medical work, MK also mentions another work in Turkish which is listed under this work (i.e. No.192₁) for comparison and is probably the same as that mentioned by IF (p. 6, l. 11) as the Turkish version of the Arabic work mentioned by the same source in the above note a.

Although this latter source (i.e. IF) does not give any information on the price and copies still in store of the Turkish version except for mentioning it as being under translation at the time (i.e. 1260 A.H.), however, MK gives the figure "1,009" as the combined total of printed copies for both versions (i.e. No.192₁ and No.193₁). Thus the number/percentage of copies consumed for them are "200 (19.5%)" up to 1262 A.H.

No.223 ₂ : 1246 /MK-1262/ ^d	5.00-q.	2,792 / 2,756 (98.7%)

Note a: It is uncertain whether the edition mentioned by NL and RE is referring to Edn₂ under which they are listed for comparison, despite the prices given by them being higher than that edition whose price is given by CG as 29 qirshs.

Note b: The work mentioned by both IF and MK is listed under Edn₂ for comparison. However, MK further mentions the work as being offered for sale in different bindings (1) Kāmil, (2) niṣf, and (3) rub^c (used copies only). Their prices and copies printed/consumed are separately given as shown in the above table. Amongst the 573 copies still in store given by MK for the binding of kāmīl (probably the whole set of two volumes), there are 22 used copies at 22 qirsh each.

Note c: The price and copies printed/consumed given by MK refers to the binding of niṣf (probably any one of the two volumes). There are also 16 used copies (amongst the 26 copies in store) at 7 qirsh each.

Note d: The information given here by MK refers to the binding of rub^c (i.e. for the used copies of either the half part of the first volume of the second as noted by MK), and the number of copies still in store is given by MK as "20" for the first volume and "16" for the second.

/bibliog. ref./:- BM(CAB-I/423): 14598.f.9.

/contents-note/:- A list of publications printed/published by the Būlāq printing house containing not only prices of books and the copies still in store,,but also printed copies. 12 pages.

/N.B./:- This is the second known publication-list of this kind.

However, there is only one work (i.e. No.407₁) published in 1262 A.H., which is listed in the list (on page 11); most works noted in it were published before that year in addition to several works mentioned as being in the process of being printed at the time of issuing this list. These works at the press were either published in 1262 A.H., such as Nos.152₁ and 445₁, or appeared one or more years later, such as Nos. 116₁, 519₁, 103₁, 382₁ and 253₁. It seems that the list was issued in or before 1262 A.H. to supersede the previous list (i.e. No.151₁ published around 1260 A.H.) with further notification of prices, copies still in store and, more important, the copies printed. These two lists have been carefully evaluated and used as a primary source.

/N.B./:- Compiled by Ḥasan al-^cAṭṭār. MMA mentions that it includes the text, Al-Shāfiya fī al Taṣrīf (i.e. No.421₁), which is not ascertained to be the same one mentioned by BM without the title and author but only described as "a short treatise explanatory of some verbal forms". This is the first known extant edition of its kind. Although there are two editions mentioned by Brockelmann (GAL-s.II/657) as being published in 1207/1792-93 and 1226/1811-12 respectively, their existence seems doubtful and should be treated with caution, cf. above pp. See No.239₁ for the information on prices and copies printed/consumed. NO mentions a work as "Ouvrage grammatical arabe" with marginal notes, while CG and OMB mention a work under the title of Risālat al-Ṣarf ma^ca Ḥawāshin with the description of "ouvrage grammatical arabe, accompagné de glosses marginales". The date of publication is given by NO to the former as "1241 (1825)", and by CG and OMB to the latter as "1240 (1825)".

Note a: The work/edition mentioned by RE is listed under No.236₁ (published in 1251 A.H.) for comparison.

Note b: The number of printed copies given by MK actually includes the combined total of two works, one being the work in question, and the other No.514₁. The number of copies in store is nevertheless given by MK for the former as "100" and for the latter as "157", while given by IF as "426" for the former (i.e. No.239₁) and as "165" for the latter (i.e. No.514₁). The number/percentage of copies consumed up to 1260 A.H. as shown in the above table is calculated from the figures given by IF in two different places in the same source (i.e. BūlāqIF, p.9, line 11, and BūlāqIF, p.9, line 15) instead of in one place as given by MK. The price one qirsh is given by both IF and MK to the work No.514₁.

Note a: The price and copies still in store for each part of the four volumes are given by MK as shown in the above table. The figure "1,000" is however given as the combined total of printed copies of the four parts/volumes. The number and percentage of copies consumed is therefore "6 (0.6%)". IF mentions the work as being near the end of its printing when the list was issued around 1260 A.H.

Note a: It is uncertain whether the work mentioned by MK as "Mayl al-Shams" (without giving the language) is the same as this work (i.e. No.260₁) mentioned by IF. It is owing to this uncertainty that the number and percentage of copies consumed up to 1260 A.H. is not given but the number of copies still in store at that point which is given in square-brackets. However, MK gives no price and no copies in store but the printed copies; the work was probably all consumed (i.e. sold and/or distributed).

while CG and QMB only mention the latter work (i.e. Manāsik al-Ḥajj) of the same author as being published in "1250 (1835)" and remark that both works/texts were previously published in Istanbul in 1232/1817 under the double title of these two works. However, Van Dyck (IQ, p. 415) gives the number of pages for the 1232 A.H. edition of Istanbul as "256" for the former and "271" for the latter.

/N.B./:- It is uncertain whether this work is the same as work No.399₁ which is mentioned by MMA (vol. I, p. 937) under the title of Risāla fī TaṬ^CĪm al-Judarī, as having been published twice in 1250 A.H. and in 1252 A.H. respectively. The second edition of the latter work is however not listed under No.399₁ but only noted here for comparison, despite the fact that MMA regards these two works No.302₁ and No.399₁ as two different publications. Though, FAMT also lists two works of this kind: one (FAMT, p. 117) is under the title of TaṬ^CĪm al-Judarī and dated as "1252 A.H."; the other (FAMT, p. 116) is under the same filing-title of this work (i.e. No.302₁) but is dated "1253 A.H.", without the place of publication.

The former is nevertheless listed here as the same as this work, the latter is only noted here for comparison as a result of its translator also being given differently as "Ibrāhīm al-Nabarāwī" by FAMT.

/contents-note/:- A work on surgery, one volume: 134 pp. Printing executed: 1st Rabī^c I, 1244/11th September 1828.

/N.B./:- The work is mentioned by CO, FKT and TEK as the fourth part/volume of Shānī-zāda's five works of medical composition, while the description "al-Kitāb al-Rābi^c min kutub al-khamsa al-Shānī Zāda (sic) fī al-A^cmāl al-Jirāhiyya ... etc." is given by BM as the title. NO gives no title but describes it as "Traité des opérations chirurgicales", and GOR only describes it as "Nochdruck des vierten Buches der i.J. 1820 zu Constantinopel erschienen Anatomie Schanisade's" without the title and the date. It is uncertain whether the work mentioned by CG, BO and OM3 as being published in 1246 (1830) and under the title of "al-Jild /sic/ al-Rābi^c min Kutub Shānī-Zāda fī 'Ilm al-Ṭibb" is the same edition, if so, the date is probably wrongly given by them.

/N.B./:- The work mentioned by CO under the title of "Tartīb-i Ṣiḥḥa-i Ma'mūr-i Larīna-i Dā'ir Qānūn-Nāma" is probably the same, but the number of pages is given as "231", in spite of the date of publication being precisely given as "Shawwāl 1250/February 1835."

/N.B./:- It is uncertain whether the work mentioned as also being published in the same year (i.e. 1250 A.H.) by CG under the title of "Tartīb-i Ṣiḥḥa-i Ma'mūr-i Larīna-i Dā'ir Qānūn-Nāma", and by CG, BO, and QMB under that of "Qānūn lil-Usbītāliya" respectively is the same as this work (i.e. No.377). CO gives the former work "231" pages and the precise date of publication as "Shawwāl 1250/February 1835", while the latter is described as "Règlement pour les hôpitaux". To avoid overlapping, these two latter works are noted here but not to be listed separately as a different work. In the same case, two works mentioned by RE as "Kanoum el Espetalia (Hospital Code)" (p. 143, l. 32), and as "Kanoum el Sahha (Treatise on Health)" (p. 143, l. 16) are also listed here for comparison owing to the lack of information to ascertain their identification with each other. (1) and (3) are listed under this work (i.e. No.388₁), while (2) and (4) are listed under No.335₁ for comparison; it is uncertain whether (1) is the same as (3) and (2) the same as (4). However, the price and copies consumed for each are given and are shown in the above table. MK in addition gives the figure "1,927" as the combined total of printed copies for works (3) and (4); the number /percentage of consumed copies for these two works is therefore "1,209 (62.7%)" at the time of 1262 A.H.; and will be "1,116 (57.9%)" if both (1) and (3) are indeed identical with (2) and (4) respectively as listed here.

It is uncertain whether this work was ever printed or not, as Muḥammad ^CAlī ordered the work/manuscript to be burned after being informed of the nature of the work by Henry Salt, the British Consul General in Egypt. As a result, Muḥammad ^CAlī issued, on 13th July 1823/3rd Dhū al-Qa^Cda 1238, an order to the effect that no person (and particularly a foreigner) could have books printed by the Būlāq press, unless he first obtained personal approval from him. This ^cAzīz Ef. is known to have been then in charge of the Maṭba^cat Sarāy Ra's al-Tīn bi-al-Iskandariyya. /N.B./:- CG and OMB do not mention the language of this work, while IQ and LES both mention it as being in Arabic but the date is given by IQ as "1258 A.H." The work mentioned by FKT, under the title of "Siyāsat-Nāma-ī Malakiyya", is given as being in Turkish and the number of pages as ten but without the date of publication. Furthermore, BūlāqIF (p. 11, l. 9) mentions the publication of a "Siyāsat-nāma-ī Jadīda" in Turkish and Arabic as being in the process of being printed (i.e. around 1260 A.H.). This last work seems to be different from the work in question (i.e. No.451₁). However, this work is listed here as a bilingual work in consideration of the nature of the work as well as the confusion resulting from the various sources.

Note a: Two works of this kind are mentioned by MK under the title of "Shakl-lī Ūrta Ta^clīmī", one is Arabic the other Turkish and are listed under No.470₁ and No.469₁ respectively for comparison. The printed copies of each are not given, but the number "5,616" is, however, given as the combined total of printed copies for both.

are also given the copies in store as shown in the above table. The number/percentage of copies consumed are therefore "3,691 (65.7%)" for these two works up to 1262 A.H. according to MK.

Note b: However, IF also mentions an Arabic work as "Urṭa Ta^clīmī^c Arabchadur" which is listed under this work (i.e. No.470₁) for comparison. It is uncertain whether the work mentioned by IF is the same as that mentioned by MK, the number/percentage of copies consumed up to 1260 A.H. are therefore not given except for the copies in store (i.e. "302" in number) given in the above table.

/N.B./:- MB mentions the work as in three volumes under the title of Qānūn-Nāma li-Ta^Clīm al-Biyāda wa-al-Uṣṭat wa-al-Ālāy. The above filing-title and the volume and page-number are given by ^{CK}, while ^FKT mentions a work under the same name as this filing title and as being published in 1248 A.H. but only with the page-number of 191 pp. and 14 plates. The work mentioned by ^FKT is probably the first part/ volume of this work (i.e. No.473₁). If so, each volume/part of this work in question may also have been mentioned in various sources under different titles, and in this case, they may be listed separately in the checklist as a result of incomplete information available on their publication, cf. No.315, No.331 and No.479 which are probably the first, second and third volume/part of this work (i.e. No.473₁) respectively.

The existence of this early edition seems based on the source of BI which remarks that the translator had translated it when he was still a student of the educational mission in Paris (i.e. 1832-38). Owing to no extant copy of this early edition being available, it is only noted here but not listed separately as another printed edition.

TITLES OF WORKS UNIDENTIFIED
AND NOT LISTED IN THE CHECKLIST

Some works which are inadequately described cannot be identified with any of the established works in the checklist. They are therefore given, in alphabetical order according to title in the following list, together with all the information found in the sources which are given in brackets following each entry.

1. Cham su en arabe, one volume, 4 piastres (MédémNL-33:14).

16. Tārīkh Irtifā^c wa-Inḥitāt Dawlat Rūma; (BūlāqMK-12:16).

/N.B./ BūlāqMK (page 12, line 16) mentions this work as being in the process of being printed in a print-run of 300 copies (i.e. 1262/1845-46). It is uncertain whether this is the same as the Arabic work Burhān al-Bayān wa Bayān al-Burhān fi Istikmāl wa Ikhtilāl Dawlat al-Rūmān which is mentioned by Abu-Lughod (Arab Rediscovery, pp. 50-51) as having been translated in 1842.

However, owing to the lack of an extant copy of this work being cited, it is only noted here but not listed in the Checklist.

PART III

TABLES OF LITERARY AND STATISTICAL SURVEYS

(EACH PRECEDED BY NOTES ON THEIR USE)

PART III: SECTION A

TABLES SHOWING THE ANNUAL AND CUMULATIVE OUTPUT FOR EACH YEAR ACCORDING TO CATEGORIES OF LANGUAGE, WORK-CLASSIFICATION AND SUBJECT, EACH TABLE CONTAINING THE TITLES OF THE PUBLICATIONS APPEARING THAT YEAR

There are thirty-one tables, including thirty yearly (Tables 1-30) and one (Table 31) for undated publications, which are arranged in chronological order and designed to give a comprehensive annual and cumulative survey of works appearing within the period under study, i.e. 1238-67 (1822-51). In each table, there are two main parts under the separate boxheading of (1) categories of language and work-classification, and (2) subjects. The first part is arranged vertically, and will serve also as the stub with the languages (i.e. Arabic, Turkish, Persian and Unknown), in the first column, as the main entry, and the work-classifications (i.e. contemporary writing, translation work and classical literature), in the second column, as the subdivisions. The statistics for these two categories are in the third column and are aligned with the related items in the columns of the second part which is a break-down of subjects according to the Dewey Decimal Classification's (abbreviated as DDC) ten main classes (i.e. generalities, philosophy, religion, social sciences, language, pure sciences, technology, the arts, literature, and history).

In these tables, the number of works printed (or output) is shown with the annual figure on the left side of the dividing line, i.e. a diagonal "/", and cumulative figure on its right, such as "1/2" and "3/28" in the example below (cf. p. 558, note a and note b). In cases where both annual and cumulative figures are zero, a colon ":" is used. Works in Persian and unknown languages will only be tabulated from the sixth and fifth year respectively. As Persian publications are mostly classical in terms of work-classification (with one exception, i.e. work No.370), and most of the publications of unknown language are classified as contemporary writing (except four works, Nos. 106, 140, 189 and 190, which are tentatively classified as classical literature), these two sections are not subdivided in the first part into the categories of contemporary writing, translation work and classical literature, as in the cases of Arabic and Turkish, but only entered with the "Persian (CL)" for the former and the "Unknown (CW)" for the latter to represent the output of works in these two languages. For the sake of saving space, a number of abbreviations are employed in the tables of this section and others in the third part of the study; they are: "Gen." (= Generalities), "Phil." (= Philosophy), "Rel." (= Religion), "SocS." (= Social Sciences), "Lang." (= Language), "PureS" (= Pure Sciences), "Tech." (= Technology), "Arts" (= the Arts), "Lit." (= Literature), and "Hist." (= History, including geography), for the subject classification; in addition to "Ann." (= Annual), "W.Cl." (= Work Classification) and others (cf. p. xii above).

PART III: SECTION B

NUMBER-INDEX TO THE SUBJECT-MATTERS OF WORKS
ARRANGED ACCORDING TO THE MODIFIED SCHEDULE OF THE DEWEY DECIMAL CLASSIFICATION (= DDC),
WITH COPIES PRINTED/CONSUMED (i.e. SOLD AND/OR DISTRIBUTED)

On the lines of modern bibliographies, the Dewey Decimal Classification (abbreviated as DDC) is mostly adopted nowadays. However, in the Arab and Muslim World, it is often revised and modified to meet the needs of classifying Arabic-character and Islamic works. In this study, changes and modifications are also made according to general practice prevailing in many Western and Eastern libraries and works dealing specifically with the classification of Arabic and Islamic works/publications.¹ The following points should be noted when using the modified schedule (as shown in Table 32):

- 1) The revision were based mainly on the revised schedules as given by: Maḥmūd al-Shanīṭī, Mūjaz al-Taṣnīf al-^cAshrī (Cairo, 1970), especially for the section concerning the classification of Arabic language and literature, and Tehran, Book Processing Centre, Dewey Decimal Classification and Relative Index (Devised by Melvil Dewey): Islam (Tehran, 1975). Cf. also Midhat Kazim, Dalil al-Maktabat (Cairo, 1954), in addition to Melvil Dewey, Abridged Dewey Decimal Classification and Relative Index, Desvised by Melvil Dewey, Edition 10 (New York, 1971) and The Eighteenth Editions of the Dewey Decimal Classification, ed. by John P. Comaroni (Albany, 1976).

- (1) The DDC notation (or the first three digits of number) given in the DDC's first, second, and third summaries and designating the main classes, subclasses, and subsubclasses respectively, have been adopted without change in this modified schedule. For instance, "000" for "Generalities" and "200" for "Religion" in the case of ten main classes; "160" for "Logic" and "510" for "Mathematics" in the case of subclasses; and "297" for "Islam" and "492" for "Arabic language" in the case of subsubclasses. Only the notations relevant to the subject of the publications discussed in this study have been listed in the schedule, i.e. Table 32. These are found in the first column of the table. The notations for the ten main classes are underlined, those for the subclasses are indented, and those for the subsubclasses are further indented. Each notation is followed in the second column by a description of the subject-matter to which it refers, and then in the third column by the code-numbers of works which are classified in the checklist under that notation in question.
- (2) Where the original classification of the DDC is accepted but needs to be slightly modified, as in the case particularly with the further subdivision of Islam and of Arabic, Turkish, and Persian language/literature, such modification will be effected by adding a bracketed one-digit number to the basic DDC notation, and by giving a description of the subject-matter in question, e.g.
- "297" for "Islam" (in the original classification of the DDC), but "297(1)" for "Qur'ān and related sciences" (in the modified schedule, as shown in page 618 below);
- "492" for "Arabic" (in the original schedule), but "492(4)" for "Arabic morphology or ṣarf" (in the modified), and so on.

(3) Where works have been classified here according to a system which differs from DDC's notation, the newly-allocated notation together with the explanation will be given in parentheses after the description of subject-matter which is not subject to the new reclassification, e.g. under the notation of

"920", we find the description of "Biography (Class Muslim biographies and genealogy in "297(9)");" and under that of "094" we find "Books notable for printing (Class here some publications with unknown subject-matter)", when only explanation is needed.

(4) In the third column, the code-number of works is followed by the date (or dates if more than one edition) of publication, and is numbered in the chronological order according to the appearance of its earliest edition; then the number of printed/consumed copies, if any, will be given in square-brackets, and each work/edition will be marked with symbol(s), i.e. asterisk and/or dagger(s):¹

(a) an asterisk "*", if the work in question had been previously published in Istanbul, e.g. in the case of work No.375 which is allocated under the notation "355", and is entered as:

" 3) No.375(T-TW.3): 1238 * "

(b) a dagger "†", if the work or edition is known to have been printed at private expense (i.e. a privately-contracted work), e.g. work No.295 under the notation "170",

" 2) No.295(T-CL.1): 1257 404/404 † ",

1) See above p.xii on the application of symbols asterisk and dagger.

and work No.104 under the notation "891(4)",

" 1) No.104(P-CL.8): 1243

do. : 1249

do. : 1257

do. : 1259

do. : 1261 $\overline{3,436/3,374}$ $\frac{1}{2}$

do. : 1266 "

Where the 1261 edition of the work was printed/published under private patronage, while others were probably under that of the government (cf. above, pp. 268-70).

(c) daggers "‡", if the work was printed/published probably under private patronage, e.g. work No.051 under the notation "894(1)",

" 30) No.051(T-CW.8): 1258 *‡ ", where the work was reprinted in Egypt probably at private expense. While under "894(4)" work No.126 is entered as:

" 1) No.126(T-CL.8): 1251 ‡

do. : 1254 $\overline{806/806}$ $\frac{1}{2}$ ", where the 1251 edition of the work is marked with daggers "‡", despite the fact that the 1254 edition is marked with " $\frac{1}{2}$ ", this is because the latter is entered with the source-reference "BūlāqMK-10:23" which mentions the work as a privately-contracted publication. The use of the daggers "‡" in this case is to avoid any error owing to the uncertainty arising from incomplete information.

(d) daggers "‡", if the work is regarded as a privately-printed work, e.g. work No.204 under the notation "068", we have:

" 1) No.204(A-CW.0): 1262 ‡ ".

CATEGORIES OF WORKS AND COPIES PRINTED/CONSUMED ACCORDING TO THE LIST OF PUBLICATIONS ISSUED BY THE EGYPTIAN GOVERNMENT IN 1262 A.H.

Table 33 shows the works as found in the list of publications issued by the Egyptian government in the mid-1840's. In this list, a total of 289 works (and 405,075 printed copies) are listed, which include 272 works (395,375 printed copies) mentioned as having been produced up to that time (c. 1262/1845-46), and 17 works (9,700 copies) in the process of being printed.¹ Among the 272 works already published, 78 works (in 56,408 copies) are also mentioned as being privately-contracted works and there are given the number of copies printed for each work; while the rest (i.e. 194 works and in 338,867 copies) are mostly produced under the auspices of the government, they are listed under several categories as tabulated below and the majority of them are

- 1) The total number of printed copies was added up wrongly in the list as "405,074" (see BūlāqMK, p. 12). This same figure is also founded in al-Waqā'i^c al-Miṣriyya (No.46) dated 16th Muḥarram 1263 (4th January 1847), which mentions that there were "302,843" printed copies of books produced under the auspices of the government, while "102,231" were printed at private expense; see SabatTT, p. 179 and above, p. 133.

given with both the total number of copies printed and the copies left in store at the time. Therefore, when there is no indication of copies being still in store, it is presumed that the work has been completely sold out or distributed, particularly in the case of privately-contracted works. In the table, percentages are expressed in terms of total, i.e. the figure(s) for each category as against the cumulative total for all categories, except for percentages of copies consumed which are against the total number of copies printed (i.e. the number in the fourth column against that in the third).

THE OUTPUT OF EGYPTIAN PRINTING PRESSES DURING THE PERIOD OF STUDY, 1238-1267 (1822-1851)

The 570 works which appeared in Egypt in the period 1238-67 (1822-51) have been tabulated here (i.e. Table 34) according to the press-names under which they were given in sources or printer's imprints. However, there are thirty-seven undated works which all figure as being printed and published by the Būlāq press despite many of them bearing no press name.

THE OUTPUT OF TURKISH WORKS WITHIN THE DOMAINS OF THE OTTOMAN EMPIRE BETWEEN 1238/1822-23 AND 1267/1850-51

According to Jale Baysal (Müteferrika'dan Birinci Meşrutiyete Kadar Osmanlı Türklerinin Bastıkları Kitaplar, Istanbul, 1968), there are 766 Turkish works which appeared within the domains of the Ottoman Empire between 1238/1822-23 and 1267/1850-51. These works (probably including those produced in Egypt) are tabulated by her annually according to subjects. In order to make a comparison of the printing and publishing activities between Egypt and elsewhere in the Empire (mainly Istanbul), they are further arranged according to the Dewey Decimal Classification in the following table (i.e. Table 35).

PART III: SECTION F

ANNUAL AND DECADAL SURVEY OF PUBLICATIONS

There are three main kinds of survey conducted here:

- (1) according to languages, for which there are three tables, 36, 37, and 38;
- (2) according to work-classifications, for which there are nine tables, 39, 40, and 41 (for the total output), 42, 43, and 44 (for Arabic), and 45, 46, and 47 (for Turkish);
- (3) according to subjects, for which there are also nine tables, 48, 49, and 50 (for the total output), 51, 52, and 53 (for Arabic), 54, 55, and 56 (for Turkish).

Tables 36, 39, 42, 45, 48, 51, and 54 are designed to allow the reader to survey the output annually and decadal during the period 1238-1257 (1822-1851) in respect of the three categories of languages, work-classifications, and subjects.

Tables 37, 40, 43, 46, 49, 52, and 54 are designed to allow the reader to survey the proportion (i.e. the number and percentage) of publications according to language, work-classification and subject output within each of the three decades under study.

Tables 38, 41, 44, 47, 50, 53, and 56 will allow the reader to survey the decadal proportion of each language, work-classification, and subject output in the period under discussion.
